01

ABOUT

From the ledger to the bigger picture.

I'm a finance-driven accounting professional currently working through the Strategic Professional level of the ACCA qualification — the final stage before membership. My background is rooted in accuracy, structured thinking, and the discipline that accounting demands.

What drives me now is the move from recording numbers to interpreting them. I'm building toward a career in financial analysis, where the work is less about closing the books and more about reading what they say — about a company's health, its risks, and where capital ought to go next.

I'm hardworking, deliberate, and committed to continuous learning. I'd rather understand something deeply than skim across it.

Read the numbers.

Statements tell a story. The job is to hear it clearly and report it honestly.

– 03

Always learning.

Standards evolve, markets shift. Continuous study is the only sustainable edge.
